W. W. STEELE,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

Mr. R. W. Woodbury made a decided impression by his address on "The Future of Denver." His quotation of the remark of William Orton that Denver was destined to be one of the four great cities of the continent was not familiar to the people of Denver and has made a decided boom in real estate there. Many people prefer to sell now than wait for the high prices that Denver real estate will then bring.

One of the most interesting of our articles this morning is that on the German crown prince. It is of peculiar interest because within the past week there has been so much in our telegraphic news regarding the ascendancy of Germany in continental affairs and also regarding the health of the crown prince, who may soon be at the head of the empire. The letter is from the pen of Dr. Abel, for many years the Berlin correspondent of the London Times and who is regarded as one of the best informed men in Europe on German politics.

We have received a copy of the speech of the Hon. Eugene Hale, showing up some of the inconsistencies of the civil service reform policy of the present administration. Senator Hale has been very careful in gathering his facts, and his conclusions are amply justified. The present administration has made a great many mistakes, but it can be said that it has done good in one direction. It has made ardent civil service reformers of many like Secretary Teller, who has come out, civil service reform as a Sunday school idea. During Hayes' administration Mahone fought civil service reform was party disloyalty. He now looks upon the failure to live up to a high standard of civil service reform as disloyalty to one's country. Mr. Hale's later opinions are the best. It is rather sad to reflect, however, that the earnest friends of civil service reform usually belong to the party that is out of power.

Pueblo lost the greatest opportunity that has ever come its way when it allowed Mr. Cable of the Rock Island to leave town before the board of trade could get around and tell him how easy it would be to secure terminal facilities there. The members of the board of trade feared, possibly, that Mr. Cable would ask them what they thought he would want with terminal facilities in their town, and this not a man in Pueblo could have answered.—[Denver Republican.

This is one of the Republican's very touching. However it will not be necessary for the Republican to stir up the board of trade of Denver to tell Mr. Cable how easy it will be to secure terminal facilities from Denver. He can get all the information he wants on this point from the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. Though the Atchison and Topeka has not yet completed its arrangements for getting into Denver, it will be able by this time to make a much closer estimate on what it will cost over and above the million already expended.

By careful estimates, the population of the United States at this time is given at sixty-two millions. This gives us a population among the civilized countries second only to Russia. This fact suggests to the St. Louis Globe Democrat the following regarding our future: "Forty years ago the United States "stood sixth in point of population "among the civilized nations of the "globe, and twenty years ago it stood "fifth. Twenty years hence it will stand "first. And will not political, social "and industrial supremacy come with "pre-eminence in population? Perhaps, "but hardly so soon. The United States "holds the nations in excess value and "variety of natural resources. It is "twenty-first in wealth, as well as first in "the value of the products of its farms "and factories. Undoubtedly it will "[illegible] ... in the "other great elements of immeasurably over "With a little time of thousands of "Americans now living, it seems also "certain safe to predict the United "States will be as completely and unquestionably the great social center of "the world as it is already the center and "creator of much of that which most "powerfully contributes to the world's "moral and material advancement."

We published yesterday Mr. Balfour's speech giving statistics showing the [illegible] against Ireland. This was a strong one-sided paper, [illegible] but within a comparatively short time [illegible] such severe measures have been taken to secure peace. But Mr. Balfour made another statement at the same time which explains the matter. He said that for the last two years the government had not had to rely exclusively on the loyal support of the Irish Scotch and Welsh members in order to get Irish peace in Ireland. Here is the true explanation. The Irish people have conducted themselves during the present agitation in a manner that with good behavior Mr. Parnell's present [illegible] ... the press declared. After the passage of Coercion and Parnell the crime record was passed but there was no occasion for it then. When the present crimes act was passed, there was no new [illegible] of that character. The people by powerful means, were securing reductions of rents which a commission of the government officially declared were more than the people could pay. The present crimes act had not the excuse of that of 1881, and more than that, has been executed with far greater oppression and tyranny. The fact that a large body, possibly the majority, of the Parnellite people were in sympathy with Irish home rule has not put them on their honor. Had it not been for the hope of home rule in the immediate future through the help of Englishmen, the people would have been goaded to desperation and there would have been a carnival of blood that would have made the civilized world shudder.

ART EXHIBITION.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Frances B. Hill invited her friends to an exhibition of oil paintings, water colors and etchings. They were the work of Mrs. Hill, Mrs. T. C. Parrish, Mrs. Hamp and Miss Blandy. A large number availed themselves of this opportunity and a rare treat was given. Mrs. Bower, water colors of Mrs. Hill are too well known to need any special notice. In addition she had some etchings of flowers which were much admired. They were studies from nature and done with her usual accuracy and freedom. They were of especial interest because rare subjects for etching and were fine examples of how light and shade may be manipulated to give the effect of color. Some of these etchings have been sent to the east and are so highly approved that one of the leading art firms is already negotiating with Mrs. Hill to publish a book of etchings of Colorado flowers.

Mr. T. C. Parrish had a few of his recent etchings on exhibition. Among those attracting special attention were some California studies which he made last fall. They all showed careful, conscientious work and the true artistic spirit. It is only a little more than a year since he began etching, and he has already established a reputation. Of the ten etchings he sent to the New York etching club for the exhibition now in progress six were accepted and are hung. This was a good fortune that only one or two other etchers had. The leading firm publishing etchings in New York submitted twenty-five prints of plates that had recently been bought of American artists because thought to be of superior merit and only thirteen were accepted. This shows the severe test the prints were submitted to.

It was known that Mrs. Parrish had received the first prize for oil painting at the exhibition of the Philadelphia Academy of Design last spring, and consequently there was a general expectation of a high order of work in any oil painting she might submit. But none were prepared for the exquisitely beautiful picture of two girls living in this city which she had just finished. It possessed the rare, though necessary quality of good portrait painting, in being a perfect likeness. But it had in addition such artistic merit that the picture was a desirable possession independent of any special interest in the subject. The position was attractive and graceful. The coloring was simply exquisite. The back ground began on one side light and was gradually darkened toward the other side. It was managed to give a very beautiful effect. In this country of superlatives where brass bands are spoken of as discoursing from the old masters "high praise is sometimes misused. But it is only just to say that while there are many portraits in this city painted by eminent American artists, there are none to be compared with this. Mrs. Parrish also submitted a fancy sketch of a girl's head in black and white in oil. The picture attracted a good deal of attention at the "black and white" exhibition in New York last spring and shows the versatile quality of her talent.

Mrs. Hamp has painted several water colors of scenery about here. The pictures showed a fine sympathy with nature and were so much admired that all were quickly bought that were offered for sale.

Miss Blandy has recently come to the city to reside. She exhibited several specimens of painting on bolting cloth and her work was highly commended. She will soon open decorative art rooms where her work can be more generally seen.

The exhibition was very creditable to the city. As these artists have the ability to so well as eastern exhibitors their pride in their work is quite justified.

Blunt Sues for Damages.

DENVER, February 11.—The trial of Clarence of Wilfred Blunt who was recently convicted of violating [illegible] crimes act, against the police for [illegible] damages for illegal arrest, commenced today. Blunt was present in the court room wearing the prison garb to which he was sentenced. Lady Blunt was also present. The court room was crowded.

Pacific Funding Bills.

WASHINGTON, February 11.—Thomas Lawrence Adams, president of the Union Pacific railway appeared before the house committee on Pacific railroads today. He explained the attitude of that company toward the funding bills pending before the committee. Generally he favors the Outhwaite bill, with a few slight amendments intended to remove objectionable features.

The Hour agency at No. 4 North Tejon street, appears to be getting a fair share of business, having sold yesterday two properties in the eastern end of the city and one in Parrish's addition. This agency has a change this morning of advertisement; on our fourth page.

The Snider Brothers, of Manitou, expect to commence the exploration of the new cave lately discovered by them near the Grand Caverns in about two weeks. They are at present running a tunnel which will open the cave several feet below the point where it was first discovered.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. T. U. Horn presented Pike's Peak Lodge with a beautiful picture in crayon of "Rebekah at the Well." The picture is the work of Mrs. Horn, and is an original study emblematic of the Degree of Sisters of Rebekah. Captain Baker, on behalf of Mrs. Horn, made the presentation.

Mayor F. E. Dow returned from Los Angeles, California, on Friday, where his family are now located. His daughter's health has been greatly benefited by the change. Mr. Dow stated that during his stay in Los Angeles there was hardly a day upon which it was not necessary to wear an overcoat.

There is a noticeable change in M. Kennedy's advertisement this morning. Instead of his usual selection of city properties he is now laying before the public perhaps the most lovely country home in the state, Bear Creek ranch. The former owner, Mr. T. S. Hutchins, built the present beautiful house and any one who has visited there will agree that it is a misnomer to speak of it as a ranch house. The property is offered at a bargain.

The following is a list of the lecturers and their subjects which will be given at Colorado City for the benefit of the free reading room at that place, commencing February 16th. The price of admission for the entire course being only $1.00.

Yesterday the members of Professor H. C. Darger's juvenile dancing class gave a matinee to their relatives and friends at Armory hall. The audience was quite largely attended and much satisfaction was expressed with the manner in which the children acquitted themselves. In addition to the dancing programme an exhibition drill was given by the professor's military class of twenty boys. The class went through a number of evolutions from Upton's tactics which they did very creditably. We are glad to assure that Professor Darger has decided to locate in Colorado Springs permanently.
